New Paltz and Vassar in Protest

Area Students Are Peaceful

By JEAN F. DOLAN

NEW PALTZ—New Paltz State University students, faculty and administration massed at a rally on campus today discussing student protest of the Cambodia step-up and Kent State killings and seeking direction for peaceful demonstrations.

There were no signs of violence on the New Paltz campus today as students joined in the nationwide protest. Petitions were being circulated among the faculty in support of the student stand.

Some classes were meeting at New Paltz today and a number of students were involved in cleaning up litter from last night's rally and all-night vigil. Approximately 500 New Paltz college students earlier jammed the corridors of the administration building at the State University here today while about 200 others milled around outside in what was termed a peaceful demonstration.

Some curled up to sleep after their all night vigil while others discussed the events leading to student protest which is erupting across the nation. The New Paltz students voted to join other students across the country in a protest strike at a rally Monday night. The student meeting began about 8:30 p.m. yesterday in a student lounge across campus but moved outside when a bomb hoax was telephoned to State Police in Highland forcing evacuation of the lounge. From 500 to 1,000 students trekked across campus to the administration where the strike vote was taken. The students applauded repeated calls for non-violent protest and student leaders appointed fellow students as marshalls to keep order through the night. A few men from the Ulster County Sheriff's Department were on campus today along with State Troopers and Federal law enforcement personnel. All was reported to be quiet and orderly, according to administration and police officials. At Ulster County Community College, approximately 50 students and some faculty members participated in an open air meeting. Speeches were given by student leaders in the peaceful demonstration, against involvement in Cambodia and the shooting of four students at Kent State.

Elsewhere in the Mid-Hudson Valley, collegians at Vassar in Poughkeepsie voted to end all "normal activities" including classwork for the remainder of the school year. A faculty students carried anti-war slogans based on the Cambodian situation and there were reports that the shootings at Kent State were a factor.

Violence erupted on a number of upstate campuses. Syracuse University was the scene of window breaking, vandalism and barricades. The outbreak, involving some 200 of the approximately 17,000 students on campus came after a Monday night fire that damaged some merchandise in the basement of the campus book store. Windows were broken all over the campus and barricades were put up in an effort to close off all entrances.

Strikes were planned at Cornell, Brockport State College, St. Bonaventure, Siena, Skidmore, St. Lawrence and State University Colleges at Oswego, Cortland, Hobart, Columbia and New York Universities. Meetings and rallies are slated today at a number of other state campuses.

Some damage was reported at the State University at Albany where students threw books and broke windows in the school library.

At Fredonia, three State University College students, participating in an anti-war march were injured—none seriously—when they were hit by a car driven by another student earlier today. The driver said she did not see the marchers in time to stop.

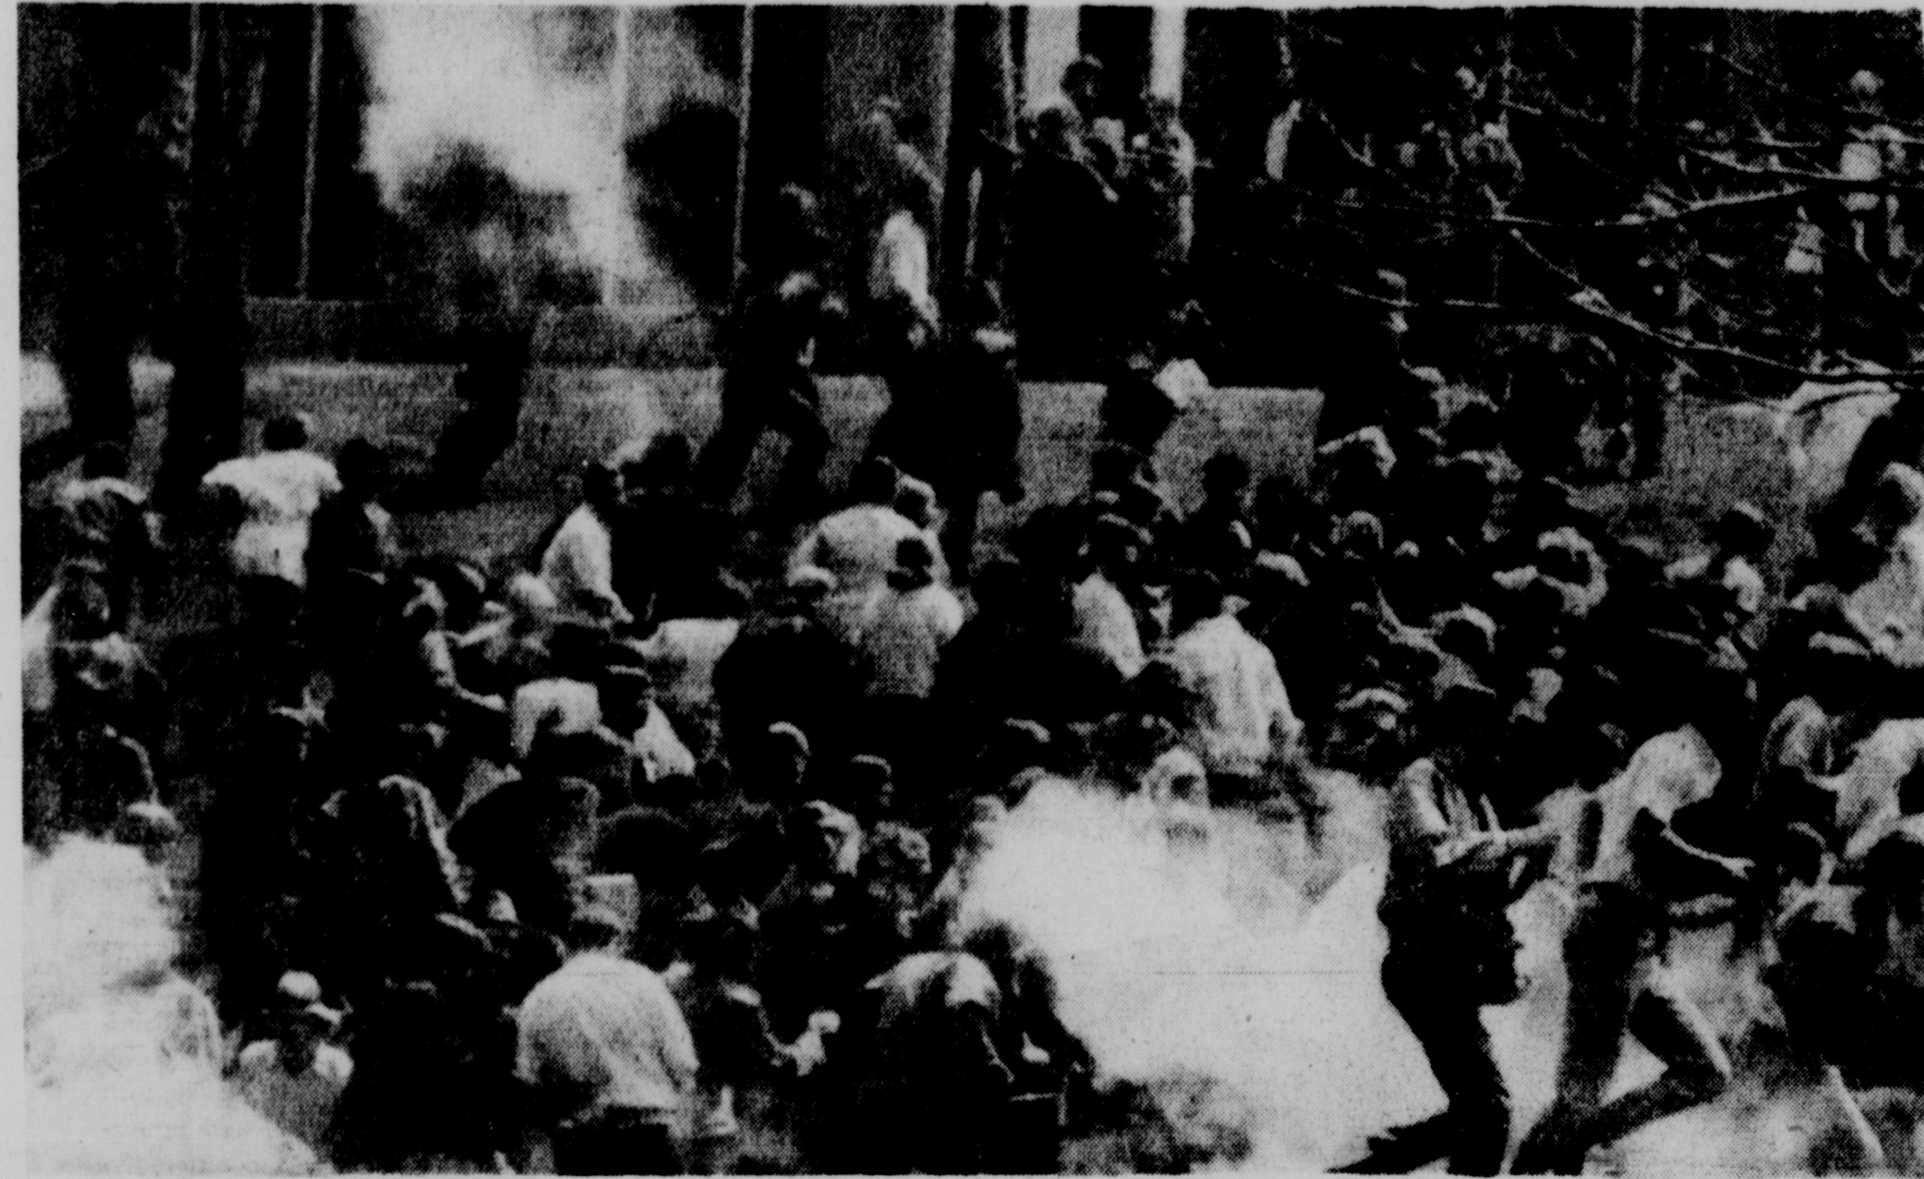

At Colgate University, where nearly 1,000 students have signed a petition urging Secretary of State William P. Rogers to quit or resign as a college trustee, students planned a memorial service and a vigil and the faculty ruled classes would not be mandatory through Friday.

Two Colgate students called a hunger strike of "rededication to life."

Sparked by the shootings at Kent State, students across the nation began new protests, strikes and demonstrations against U. S. involvement in Indochina.

At the University of Maryland, 500 National Guard troops were called to put down demonstrations by a crowd of 2,000 young people. Riot gas was used to disperse the demonstrators. Four were hospitalized and 107 arrested.

The National Guard was in action at the University of Wisconsin at Madison after fire were set and windows smashed. There also were demonstrations at Oshkosh and Appleton campuses in Wisconsin.

More Troops Cross Into Cambodia

SAIGON (UPI)—Thousands more U.S. and South Vietnamese troops plunged into the mountainous jungles of north-eastern Cambodia today in the third border crossing under President Nixon's plan to destroy Communist sanctuaries in Cambodia.

The new helicopter-borne assault involved the U.S. 4th Infantry Division, which has two brigades totalling 9,000 men left after withdrawal of 4,500 men, and the South Vietnamese 22nd Infantry Division of 12,000 men.

The new crossing was 50 miles west of Pleiku in the Central Highlands into an area where two to three divisions of North Vietnamese troops have operated for months against U.S. Green Beret and other border points.

It was 160 miles north of two other operations involving 30,000 other troops.

Allied forces said today the earlier offensives in the parrot's beak sector of Cambodia 35 miles northwest of Saigon and the fishhook sector 67 miles northwest of Saigon had killed 2,414 Communist troops, captured 526 and seized 4,313 weapons, 540 tons of rice and other supplies and 61 trucks.

South Vietnamese losses in the two operations were put at 170 killed and 651 wounded. American losses were announced as 16 killed. No casualties were announced for today's operation.

Military leaders and analysts in the United States are divided whether North Vietnam has the power and ability to continue to fight a three-front war in Indochina. Story on page 20.

But Communists manning their elusive central command headquarters had slipped away into the jungles, leaving behind a bunch of typewriters.

The first organized resistance of the entire campaign was reported today at Memot, Cambodia, in the fishhook section 70 miles northwest of Saigon, an area of French rubber plantations and beautiful stucco homes, many reduced to rubble by the airstrikes and artillery.

The North Vietnamese attacked with rockets and mortars and then charged American positions near Memot, only to be thrown back with the loss of 14 killed. Five Americans were wounded.

Here is a rundown of the three fronts:

PARROT'S BEAK SECTION: A force of 15,000 U.S. and South Vietnamese troops captured the sprawling Communist "secret base" of Ba Thu in hand to hand fighting Monday. Spokesman said government tank columns crushed resistance in the 18 by 12 mile training and supply center four miles inside Cambodia. Nearly 1,000 Communists including a regimental commander were killed, a Communist arms factory was captured and 100 buildings were destroyed.

FISHHOOK SECTOR: This was the site of the command center for the Communists' Central Office for South Vietnam (COSVN). A force of 15,000 Allied troops here found huge arms caches, hundreds of bunkers and other structures—

Nixon Pledge-- Back in 7 Weeks

(Combined Wire Services)
WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon gave leaders of Congress today what was described as a "firm commitment" that all U.S. combat troops now in Cambodia would be pulled back within seven weeks.

Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., reported the President's promise in Capitol Hill following a White House meeting.

Nixon, Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, briefed congressional leaders and members of the House and Senate Armed Services Committees for about an hour and a half and then answered questions for half an hour on Nixon's decisions to send combat troops into Cambodia and to allow brief, new air raids on North Vietnam.

As Nixon made his moves with Congress, violence marred antiwar demonstrations sweeping campuses nationwide since Nixon's decision last week to send U.S. ground troops into Cambodia.

Also Monday the Pentagon called a halt to a series of recent heavy air strikes directed at North Vietnamese missile and anti-aircraft batteries and supply complexes.

But the Pentagon couched the announcement with a warning the air attacks might be resumed. The sorties were authorized as "protective reaction" measures designed to safeguard American reconnaissance planes flying over North Vietnam, Defense officials said.

Pentagon spokesman Daniel Z. Henkin said the air missions "are essential to the safety of our forces in South Vietnam. This fact was made clear to the North Vietnamese at the time the bombing was halted in 1968."

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, disagreed with Henkin's assessment. "His language is too fancy for me to comprehend," Fulbright said.

It advocated repeal of the Aug. 10, 1964, resolution approved after Communist attacks on U.S. warships in the Gulf of Tonkin. The Nixon administration has already indicated it does not oppose repeal of the resolution.

In an interview with the Washington Post today, Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., said the failure to find the enemy's headquarters in Cambodia appears the biggest intelligence blunder since Gen. Douglas MacArthur failed to predict the Chinese would enter the Korean war.

"If they don't find that headquarters pretty soon, there's going to be a hell of a stink here in Congress and hell to pay for Nixon politically," said Ellender.

"To ordinary people in the Ozarks it is bombing, a resumption of bombing of the North."

The outcry among war critics in Congress continued at a strident pace.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee issued a report Monday accusing the administration of waging a "constitutionally unauthorized presidential war in Indochina."

The report said the administration feels free "to take over the war and treaty powers of Congress when congressional authority in those areas becomes inconvenient."

The announcement said the Ottaway properties will continue to operate under their own management as a wholly owned subsidiary of Dow Jones. The Ottaway newspapers, with a combined circulation of 242,695 and a Sunday circulation of 126,006, are located in the Northeast.

The companies also said Dow Jones will acquire the Ottaway-owned Sun Litho-Print, Inc., a commercial printing operation located in Stroudsburg, Pa.

The three radio stations owned by subsidiary companies of Ottaway will not be affected by the merger. Ottaway said the stations are being sold to other concerns.

Man Accused Of Burglary

ELLENVILLE

A 42-year-old hotel employee was arrested at 3:25 p.m. Monday by Police Lt. George Sheeley and Patrolman Norman Green on a charge of burglary third degree, following an investigation of an apartment break-in.

Henry Tyczynski, described by authorities as an employee at the Concord Hotel, was held for arraignment before Police Justice Ronald W. Elias.

According to police, Herbert Rothkopf complained to authorities that the apartment of his mother over the store at Center and Market Streets operated by Rothkopf had been entered and ransacked. Sheeley and Green investigated and obtained a description of a suspect from neighbors.

Subsequent investigation led to the arrest of the defendant. Police said they recovered jewelry and other articles that allegedly were taken from the Rothkopf apartment, which had been entered through a second floor window that had been broken.

with new portable typewriters still in the offices.

The headquarters personnel had fled farther into the jungle.

Communist bases in the area were scattered over a sector 60 miles long by 20 miles deep and U.S. fighter-bombers and artillery were working over the area as tank forces crunched forward through the jungles.

THE SE SAN RIVER FRONT 220 MILES NORTHEAST OF SAIGON: B52 bombers softened up the area with raid after raid and the Americans and South Vietnamese went in today by helicopters, backed by long range artillery and airstrikes. No heavy fighting was reported.

The Se San River front opposite Pleiku is the principal Communist invasion route into the Central Highlands. The area is one of steep mountains and heavy jungles and could produce the heaviest fighting of the campaign.

In Cambodia, no heavy fighting was reported. Cambodian troops bolstered by the arrival of Khmer mercenaries from South Vietnam were dug in near the Mekong River 30 miles southeast of Phnom Penh to try to block a Viet Cong advance on the capital. The government issued a formal statement welcoming the American incursions into Cambodia.

"All resistance has ended today," a South Vietnamese officer told UPI correspondent James Russell in the Parrot's Beak sector where the training center was found. His men began searching the giant complex and shipping the captured arms back to Vietnam.

Pulitzer Winners Are Announced

NEW YORK (AP) — Free-lance reporter Seymour M. Hersh has won the 1970 Pulitzer Prize in international reporting for his story on the alleged massacre of Vietnamese civilians at My Lai.

Other Pulitzer Prize winners announced Monday included black playwright Charles Gordone, recipient of the drama award for his off-Broadway play, "No Place To Be Somebody," and Newsday, a Garden City, N.Y., daily which won the public service award.

Hersh said he was delighted to get the prize but "it's amazing to me that anyone could know about My Lai and still continue to wage war... The last weekend has been very upsetting to me. Perhaps the American people should know more about My Lai and what their young kids are getting into when they go to war."

Working on an initial tip he received from a Pentagon source, Hersh, 33, researched the story with a $2,000 private grant and sold it to 36 newspapers through a small news service, the Dispatch News, after national magazines had turned it down.

Gordone, whose drama was the first off-Broadway play to win the award, said, "I never expected to get it. I'm very happy and pleased. I've hardly had time to realize it." He tried for three years before he was able to place the drama.

Newsday won its second public service prize in 16 years for a three-year campaign exposing secret land deals and zoning manipulations by public and political party office holders on Long Island. A separate prize for cartooning was won by Newsday staff member Thomas F. Darcy.

"It's a great thrill indeed" to win, commented former Secretary of State Dean Acheson when he was informed he had been awarded the history prize for his book, "Present at the Creation: My Years in the State Department." He served in the Truman administration. "Gandhi's Truth," an inquiry into the origins of Gandhi's theory of militant nonviolence by psychoanalyst Erik H. Erikson was granted the Pulitzer Prize in general nonfiction.

The prize in biography was won by T. Harry Williams for his book, "Huey Long;" and the poetry award was given to Richard Howard's "Untitled Subjects."

Charles Wuorinen won the music prize for "Time's Economy," a composition on an electronic synthesizer; and Jean Stafford took the fiction award for her "Collected Stories."

The late Joseph Pulitzer, founder of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch and publisher of the old New York World, provided for the awards in his will. They are granted each year by the trustees of Columbia University, upon recommendation of the Advisory Board on Pulitzer Prizes.

SCHOOL PROGRESS — The $2.1 million 36-classroom addition to the Mill Road Elementary School in Red Hook School District is proceeding on schedule and should be ready for occupancy in September 1971, according to District Principal Russell J. Teachers Claim Grievance Against Board Sustained KINGSTON — A grievance brought by the Kingston Teachers Federation against the Board of Education of the Kingston Consolidated School District, has been sustained by an arbitration panel chaired by Joseph A. Mazur of the American Arbitration Committee. It was made known today by Robert L. Tucker chairman of the KTF grievance committee.

The grievance arose following the appointment of Louis A.

Selzmann as acting superintendent of schools.

Tucker, in a release of the decision, noted that the arbitration panel in its award and opinion, ordered the Board of Education to "fulfill its commitments under Section IV, P of the agreement, and to post notification of all vacancies for positions other than classroom teaching positions before notice is given to any other applicant."

Commenting on the decision which he said is binding on both sides, Tucker said, "This decision says to the Board that it was wrong, and says it unanimously, including the view of the panel member appointed by the Board. But it says something to the taxpayer as well, because the Board used the public funds to meet the cost of an arbitration proceeding which was intended only to sustain an arbitrary, ill-considered action by the Board.

As the decision says 'it is also clear that the Federation did not seek to whittle away any of the power reserved to the Board in its sovereign position. In fact,' Tucker continued,

"the entire matter could have been settled without cost to the taxpayer except for the Board's refusal to admit any error or to compromise in any way."

Dog Ordinance Hearing Set Wednesday in Esopus

PORT EWEN — Regulations in an ordinance for the control of dogs in the Town of Esopus will be outlined at a public hearing Wednesday 7:30 p. m. in the town hall, Port Ewen.

The six-page ordinance will be reviewed before Esopus Town Board for possible changes and/or recommendations.

Supervisor George H. Freer said last week the proposed regulation is a reasonable type, ordinance and should be acceptable to all. Dog owner or those that harbor a dog, under the law, must keep the animal under control or leashed whenever outdoors or must be penned or fenced in on the owner's property. There is a special section on dogs which might be considered dangerous.

The ordinance further calls for the appointment of a dog warden and designates all town constables to serve as special dog wardens as needed. Any dog found in violation of any of the sections will be seized. There is also a section on redemption of seized dogs which includes the payment of $5 in costs.

Section 10 of the proposed ordinance also provides for humane treatment of animals.

Penalties for violations include a fine of not less than $10 and not more than $25 for a first offense. For any second or subsequent violations the fine could be from $25 to $150 or imprisonment or both.

The ordinance shall take effect 10 days after publication and posting following adoption by the Town Board.

Town of Kingston: Rejection, Resignation

SAWKILL — Rejection of the proposed Town of Kingston dog ordinance by the Town Board Monday night resulted in the resignation of a Planning Board member who authored the proposal.

Roy Estes, who prepared the proposed ordinance and presented it at the public hearing last night submitted his resignation following the rejection vote by Councilman Karl Schuerzinger and Leo Stauble. Supervisor Donald V. Dolan voted in favor of adoption and the two town justices Robert E. Ferrigan and Richard Alberstadt, abstained. The resignation was accepted with regret.

Town Clerk Edward W. Seche Jr., said the proposal seemed too strict and the fee of $5 per dog for the dog warden appeared to be the main objection. No decision was announced for further action.

Marvin Stoddard, an employee of Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp., was appointed to the Planning Board to fill the position held by Fred Parker, whose term expired.

Donald Kenly, who operates a stone crusher in a quarry at Jockey Hill Road explained his operation to a gathering of nearly 60 residents. Residents had been concerned with the operation due to what was described as undue noise and possible air pollution.

Town Superintendent of Highways Roderick J. Stanfield told the Town Board he was planning to negotiate with several firms operating heavy trucks and equipment over certain town roads. Truck traffic had been banned on several of these roads during the spring months to avoid damage. Stanfield said that some of the equipment operators had volunteered to aid in maintenance of these town roads.

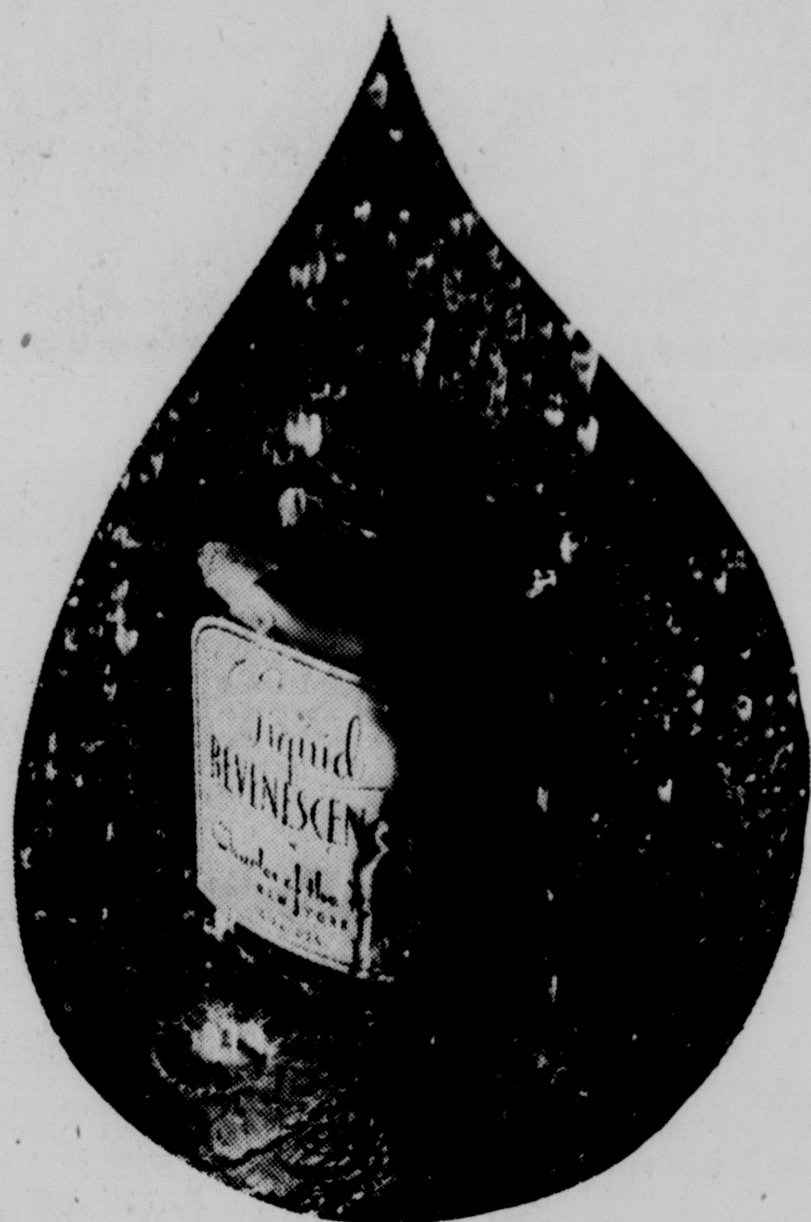

Aldermen View City Hall Plans Before Meeting

KINGSTON — Mayor Francis R. Koenig called a meeting of the Common Council Monday night to review the city hall situation and answer any questions the aldermen might have before approving what should be the last piece of legislation on the city hall tonight, the purchase of the land from the urban renewal agency.

The meeting, held at city hall, drew all 13 aldermen. Also in attendance were Corporation Counsel Aaron E. Klein, to answer any legal questions, and Robert Milliken, a representative of the architect, to answer any questions on the building itself.

Approval is expected at tonight's council meeting of the $23,900 purchase price for the four acres of land at the corner of Broadway and Meadow Street in the Broadway East Project.

The urban renewal agency will then run legal advertisements for 10 days notifying the public of its agreement with the city.

Muscovites--Hugs, Kisses

PRAGUE (UPI)—Two of Moscow's three top leaders received a red flag, hugs and kisses welcome from the Czechoslovak government today on their first visit to Prague since the 1968 Soviet-led invasion.

Leonid I. Brezhnev, first secretary of the Soviet Communist party, and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin hugged Czechoslovak party leader Gustav Husak and kissed him three times on the cheek when they arrived at the airport.

A crowd of more than 1,000 waved red flags and cheered as Brezhnev and Kosygin emerged from their Ilyushin 62 airliner to begin four days of celebrations culminating in the signing of a new friendship treaty between Czechoslovakia and the Soviet Union.

Brezhnev, beaming broadly, reached across restraining ropes to shake hands with the crowd. Then he, Kosygin, and

Benefit Hike, Tax Boost

Social Security Bill to House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation for a 5 per cent Social Security benefit increase—and a hike in payroll taxes—is on its way to the House.

The Ways and Means Committee decided on these and many other changes Monday and told its staff to draw up a bill.

Under its terms, the average single retired person next year would get $121.80 a month instead of $116; the average couple $205.80 instead of $196.

The tax increase would affect those earning more than $7,800—the present base for the payroll levy, which would be raised to $9,000.

The payroll tax rate, now 4.8 per cent on both employers and employees, is scheduled under existing law to go to 5.2 per cent.

This increase, coupled with the new enlarged base, means that the maximum paid by an employee would increase from this year's $347.40 to $468.

The 3.3 million widows—and dependent widowers—of covered workers would get a break. At present their pension at 62 or older is 82½ per cent of the spouse's basic benefit. The bill would increase this to 100 per cent at 65.

The amount a retired person may earn without reduction in his pension would go up from $1,680 a year to $2,000.

The benefit increases mean a total of $1.7 billion for the 25.5 million Social Security beneficiaries.

Other liberalizations in the bill would provide an additional $2.2 billion. The payroll tax increase would bring in $2.5 billion—enough with existing surpluses, officials said, to finance the changes.

The committee moved to control the spiraling cost of government health services. It provided a standard for doctors' fees under medicare and medicaid. These would be determined initially by deleting the highest 25 per cent of charges in a locality and accepting the highest remaining charge. Increases standard cost of medicare.

based on rising costs would be allowed beginning in 1972. The Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare would be charged with trying to work out a system of previously agreed charges with hospitals. Persons eligible for medicare would be allowed a new option, signing up for a comprehensive health service if they were in a locality where one exists. The government would pay the recharges, up to 95 per cent of the standard cost of medicare.

Blackmun Nomination Before Senate Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — With unanimous support in prospect, Judge Harry A. Blackmun's nomination to the Supreme Court came to a vote today in the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Committee approval means early Senate action on confirmation of the 61-year-old Rochester, Minn., judge, who has been a member of the 8th U.S. Court of Appeals since 1959.

A draft committee report to the Senate called Blackmun "thoroughly qualified" and found no impropriety in his participation in four cases in which he had a stock interest.

No one testified in opposition to Blackmun during a three-hour hearing last Wednesday, but the committee put off a vote at the request of Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., to allow members to study the record.

"His opinions appear to reflect judicial restraint, a respect for judicial precedent, and a recognition of the constitutional demarcation of authority between the judicial and legislative branches," Byrd said Monday in supporting the nomination.

Blackmun is President Nixon's third nominee to fill a high court vacancy created by the resignation of Abe Fortas a year ago. The Senate rejected nomination of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr., Greenville, S.C., and Judge G. Harrold Carswell, Tallahassee, Fla. Haynsworth was criticized on ethics grounds, while Carswell's judicial record and racial views were questioned.

Assemblyman Bell Gives Law Day Speech Here

KINGSTON — Society appears fragmented and there is a continuing social instability and even at times senseless acts of violence. We know so much but understand so little," he suggested.

"When we see emotion and violence replacing reason and justice on our college campuses, it is well for us to ask, why do we have laws?"

Members of the Ulster County Bar Association heard their president James Murray make the introductory remarks and the Rt. Rev. Msgr. James V. Keating give the invocation. A color guard of the Ulster County Young Marines also took part. The program was under the direction of Vincent Bradley.

Bell, asking why do we have laws? "when nothing appears to be manageable, when all facets

Arson Charged To Man, Youth

CATSKILL — Leeds state police arrested a 60-year-old man and an 18-year-old youth Monday on charges of third degree arson, as the result of an investigation of a building fire in Cossack on April 26.

BCI Investigator J. P. Mills took William Stacey Jr., 60, and Albert William Jacobs, both of Cossack, into custody and arraigned them before Cossack Town Justice Hugo Scheuer. The defendants were committed to the Greene County jail to await action of the grand jury.

Troopers said the defendants are accused of setting fire and burning down a vacant building owned by Clarence Hotaling on maintaining a safe, stable, just Stacy Road in Cossack.

Quoting Alexander Hamilton, Bell answered "Because the passions of men will not conform to the dictates of reason and justice without constraint."

Freedom and justice demand reasoned responsibility, said the assemblyman. "When one is free, one is accountable for his actions freely taken. This theory has as its central core, reasoned justice. It sees man not only as emotional, a man whose passions do not conform to reason and justice...but also as lethargic."

"Man's laziness, disinterest and apathy, makes him an easy prey for special pleaders. His frustrations can cause him to break out in sudden spasms of violence."

"For these reasons, more than ever before, today man needs law."

"The laws must be as human and enlightened as possible, but they must be respected and enforced if we are to maintain a safe, stable, orderly and just society."

Speaking of the new State Code of Criminal Procedure, Bell called it "extremely important" partly because it spells out orderly procedures and just systems for bringing people into court, for operating the courts themselves and for maintaining a safe, stable, just society.

SOUGHT BY POLICE — An all points bulletin has been issued by the Los Angeles Police Department for John R. Mercell, 22, a schoolteacher (L) who disappeared with 10-year-old pupil Jesse Pinero, a student at St. Vincent's Catholic school. Mercell left behind a tape recording saying they were going to Canada to "start a new life," because the boy was not being properly raised. Mercell had for some time been a boarder at the home of the boys' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Moises Pinero. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Four Violations Charged to Man

KINGSTON — Four violations of the vehicle and traffic law were filed against 17-year-old Scott W. Frasier of Kings Highway, Lake Katrine at 12:15 a. m. today by police.

Frasier was accused of driving an unregistered motor vehicle, unlicensed operation, driving the wrong way on a one-way street and operating a car with an inadequate muffler.

S. A. Terwilliger, 22, of 20 Arlmont Street, was cited for permitting an unlicensed operator to drive his car.

Also summoned by police was Daniel B. O'Donnell, 35, of 80 Lucas Avenue, who was accused of passing a red traffic light.

House Confident Of Welfare Reform

WASHINGTON (AP) — House supporters remain confident President Nixon's welfare reform bill will become law without undue delay despite an initial rebuff by the Senate Finance Committee.

The committee abruptly halted hearings last Friday and told the administration to rewrite the measure.

The calm in the House, which approved the bill 263 to 155 in mid-April, was reflected in comments by Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee. Originally skeptical, Mills became the bill's chief House manager.

"If they want the administration to increase the work incentives in the bill—and a way can be found to do it—that would be fine with me," Mills said in an interview.

He said his concern had been that the Senate would go the other way—liberalizing the family allowance provision now calculated to guarantee $1,600 a year to a family of four.

Mills has said publicly that if the cost of the measure is inflated, he will move to kill it in conference or, if necessary, recommend a veto.

The Finance Committee, considerably more conservative in makeup than the Senate itself, sent the bill back to the Health, Education and Welfare Department because of dissatisfaction with it—food stamps, the eco-with provisions to encourage nomic advantage of living in welfare recipients to take job public housing, an estimated training and become self-suffi-value of medicaid, freedom from social security taxes.

But testimony last week indicated to the committee the bill would have a reverse effect on in very special circumstances.

The committee prodded the Tabulations prepared by HEW department to write legislation at the insistence of Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware, senior sible.

This is not a simple assignment. To arrive at this conclusion, however, since welfare in at least some cases a family laws cover only a segment of the various programs for low income persons. Housing and food come persons. Housing and food come persons. Housing and food come persons.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MAY 5, 1970

Senior Citizens' Seminar

In observance of Senior Citizens' Month, which has been proclaimed by Governor Rockefeller, Kingston Senior Citizens' Advisory Council will hold a seminar Saturday, May 16 at Ulster County Community College, Stone Ridge. This meaningful local program, one of many events to be held in communities throughout New York State marking the occasion, is designed to assist senior citizens through their active participation along with agencies at all governmental levels, church groups and private associations.

At the seminar sessions, current programs dealing with housing, social services, social security and employment opportunities will be explored and explained by authorities. During panel discussions, opportunity will be given for suggestions for revisions. Council Coordinator Alexander Yosman has declared that he wants the seminar to provide an exchange of ideas with possible solutions as well as making those present aware of avenues of need by the senior citizen.

Reviewing the many aspects of legislation affecting the senior citizens' welfare, panelists will subject to a thorough examination the benefit structure which embraces Medicaid, family service, food stamp plan, social security, employment, health, taxation and recreation.

In his proclamation, the Governor said that if our aged are to continue their unique contributions to our society, this work must continue, and the general public must be made aware both of the achievement and the potential of our aging. We agree wholeheartedly.

The Advisory Council invites all senior citizens to participate in the seminar. We trust there will be a very large representation as we need to safeguard and to strengthen, if deemed necessary, our social services law to protect recipients.

Liberals Outnumbered

A recent Gallup poll discovered that Americans prefer to be labeled conservatives rather than liberals by a ratio of three to two. Persons over 30 heavily chose the conservative label for themselves, while those in their 20s slightly preferred to be labeled liberals, 47 to 45 per cent, with eight per cent not expressing a choice.

College graduates, as compared to those with less education, lean toward the liberal side. But even among the university group, conservatives outnumber liberals five to four. Democrats were fairly evenly divided, 44 per cent liberals to 40 per cent conservatives, while Republican conservatives overwhelmingly outnumbered liberals five to one.

Just as interesting were the images voters held of liberals and conservatives. Liberals were regarded as open-minded, fair, generous by their protagonists, while their detractors found them spendthrifts, wild, Communists, hippies, drug addicts.

Conservatives were described favorably as cautious, careful, savers who do not want to throw things away. Opponents called them close-minded, intolerant, self-centered.

We gathered that the body politic is more divided now over economic and social attitudes than political labels. If that is true, and the voters follow this division, Republicans would remain ascendant. We do not know if the voters would translate their feelings in the ballot this fall, but if they do, President Nixon would break the off-year precedent of the ins losing, and would be given a good chance of winning the control of both houses of Congress he so much desired and needs to attain his legislative program.

Red Ink at White House?

President Nixon, expressing confidence in the basic soundness of the economy, says that if he had any money he'd certainly invest in the stock market.

Better he shouldn't have said it. When a man who received a 100 per cent salary increase last year, from $100,000 to $200,000, can't scrape up a spare buck, things are rougher than we thought.

When 'Only' Is Too Many

A committee of the American Council on Education concludes that the turmoil on the nation's campuses has been greatly exaggerated. Only 22 per cent of college campuses had violent or disruptive protests in 1968-1969, it reports.

Only?

The Chinese have found a way to make their streets safe. Persons charged with crime or political derelictions are tried on the spot, and if found guilty in minutes are executed. We do not recommend the harsh sentence, but we do call attention to the drop in crime, due at least in part to quick trial and enforcement.

"Your Headache Is Catching!"

David Lawrence Says Move Into Cambodia Will Protect American Troops

WASHINGTON — Most Senators and a considerable part of the American public are not familiar with the exigencies of military strategy. So when a move is announced to wipe out the "sanctuaries" in Cambodia which flank the borders of South Vietnam, they cry that there is a "new war" gets more attention than the facts of just what is happening.

The Secretary of Defense, Melvin R. Laird, has held press conferences in the last few days from which brief comments about Cambodia have been published. But a most comprehensive explanation about the whole war and the "sanctuaries" has just been presented in a 6,500-word interview with Secretary Laird in "U.S. News and World Report." Some excerpts follow:

"The sanctuary matter has been far less well understood by the American public but, over the long run, it is even more important."

"In the past, the enemy enjoyed a tremendous opportunity to operate from privileged sanctuaries in Cambodia against not only the Mekong Delta region but also the area stretching north of Saigon. And the supplies that were furnished through Cambodia to enemy forces in South Vietnam were substantial. At one time, approximately 75 per cent of the enemy's military supplies in the Mekong Delta were coming in through Cambodia."

"If the North Vietnamese were to control Cambodia, they would have free access to ports and beaches there, and could move supplies without restriction. So it would not be correct, by any stretch of the imagination, to think that such a situation would benefit our Vietnamization program.

"The troops which Hanoi has in Cambodia are very much needed in South Vietnam by the Communists in order for them to cause any degree of disturbance or concern as far as South Vietnam is concerned. Those Communist troops tied down in Cambodia are very important to Hanoi's whole South Vietnamese operation. These troops are in Cambodia in the first place to give them a respite from combat in South Vietnam and to constitute the resource pool for Hanoi's future military operations in South Vietnam."

"The primary mission of the 40,000 men that they have in Cambodia has been to stop the Vietnamization program. If Hanoi gets occupied on the other side of the Cambodian border, they're going to have to have more men to stop the Vietnamization program, and certainly the infiltration that is coming down the Ho Chi Minh Trail at the present time makes it very difficult for them to succeed on both fronts."

"So I don't think that people should say that Hanoi doesn't have problems conducting effective operations in Laos and Cambodia, as well as in Vietnam — because South Vietnam must continue to be their primary target, and this should be understood. Some observers feel Hanoi is getting spread pretty thin, with such long supply lines."

When asked if the President's action was in line with his own recommendations, Secretary Laird said:

"Yes. As far as I am concerned — and I have made this position clear on many occasions — whenever the safety or security of Americans is involved, whether it be from activities emanating from Cambodia or Laos, I'm for using American power to protect American lives. That is what the action President Nixon announced on Thursday is all about."

The foregoing quotations reveal the military significance of the movement made against the Communist sanctuaries in Cambodia. Yet some senators, without examining the matter carefully, began to talk of reducing appropriations of a military nature in Congress and otherwise to impair the military operations carried on by the president as Commander-in-Chief of the armed forces.

Members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee are to meet with the President today to learn the background of the Cambodian affair, but there is no international or political negotiation involved. Mr. Nixon has asked for a conference with the Armed Services Committees of both Houses, which really are much more intimately acquainted with such questions. It is a case of military orders to American troops to attack certain bases which have been set up on neutral ground — Cambodia — where the government is not strong enough to prevent the use of territory by the Communists. Obviously the step was taken not only to protect 435,000 American troops but to enable the South Vietnamese to have a better chance to defend themselves while President Nixon is in the prospects of withdrawing the 150,000 American servicemen during the next 12 months.

Cambodia: Warning to Hanoi

By RAY CROMLEY

NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — President Nixon is gambling that Mao Tse-tung is right in his theories on guerrilla war that:

Guerrilla armies cannot operate successfully without safe and secure bases relatively free from attack.

No insurgency can be victorious if its supply lines are continuously and repeatedly "messed up" to intolerable levels.

But note that if he is to pursue that theory to its logical conclusion, Nixon and President Thieu must serve warning to Hanoi that even after the present raids are over and done with, the South Vietnamese and Americans will be prepared without notice to kick off future similar attacks if the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong attempt to re-establish their chain of bases, staging areas and supply depots after this two-month period of destruction. Only by this threat, stated or implied, will the current drives have lasting effect.

But most important of all, Nixon is attempting to show Hanoi that antiwar pressure in the United States will not deter him from prosecuting the war to an honorable finish — one that guarantees the independence and self-determination of South Vietnam.

It is known that the President's top advisers at the White House, at the State Department and the Pentagon for some time have believed there is no hope of ending the war so long as Hanoi is convinced that public opinion would in the end cause the United States to yield.

That is, the White House men are certain Hanoi will keep on fighting full tilt so long as that belief holds in the north.

It was defeatist groups within France (whose beliefs finally permeated the top levels of the Paris government) which triggered Ho Chi Minh's victory in 1964. The catastrophe at Dien Bien Phu was an excuse — not the cause — for France's defeat.

Nixon's closest advisers are certain that the men in Hanoi are convinced history will repeat itself. But the White House men are equally certain that once Ho's successors "realize" that this psywar defeat — the U.S. — at home strategy will not work, once Hanoi realizes we are determined to fight as long as necessary, then the North Vietnamese will find some way out.

President Nixon's men don't expect this to result in successful peace talks at Paris.

They are convinced that when and if the Communists decide to buy out of the war, Hanoi will let the war fade away, salvaging what can be salvaged and setting the stage for fighting again some other day.

This hopefully will give the South Vietnamese several years in which to build a strong government, a viable economy, a strong, efficient police force and an army able to match any regulars or guerrillas Hanoi can muster.

This, then, is Nixon's strategy and hope.

Jack Anderson Says Troop Pullout to Continue Despite Cambodia Action

WASHINGTON — The push of U.S. combat troops into Cambodia isn't supposed to delay their pullout from South Vietnam — not, at least, unless President Nixon's calculations go awry.

He has made clear to subordinates that he expects to continue the troop withdrawals from Vietnam, although the next 150,000 may be shipped out at the end of the 12 month period. He would also like to reduce the number of support troops, who man the communications and supply lines into Vietnam, by an additional 50,000 to 60,000 men.

Of course, replacements will continue to pour into Vietnam. Only the overall troop totals will be lowered.

The President, meanwhile, has hedged on his promise to end the draft and to establish an all-volunteer force. He still hopes to move toward this goal by making the Army more attractive to volunteers. But he doesn't intend to give up the draft until the Army is able to offer the incentives that will make it easier to switch to an all-volunteer system.

His aim is to reduce the draft calls gradually down to zero, and then convert to an all-volunteer armed force. In the meantime, the President will try to make the draft as palatable as possible by removing some of the inequities and uncertainties.

Shortly before he announced the drive into Cambodia he called Republican congressional leaders to the White House for a confidential briefing on the draft.

"The people expect a kind of uniformity the present system cannot deliver," said Curtis Tarr, the new Selective Service chief. He explained their plan to eliminate most deferments and to call the youngest first.

"In calling the youngest first," he said, "the random selection basis is the best route." He estimated that by the end of August "we will have caught up with the draft shortfall. I hope the sequence numbers will not reach as high as 200."

Under the lottery system, draftees are called up according to their birthdays, thus the sequence numbers run up to 365. If Tarr's estimate turns out to be correct, those with lottery numbers falling in the last 165 days won't have to worry about the draft this year.

Wilson's Objections

"I like the way the present system operates," grumped California's Rep. Bob Wilson, the House GOP Congressional Campaign chairman. "There will be a problem in eliminating educational deferments."

Secretary of Defense Mel Laird argued that draftee youths, at least, would know where they stood and could plan for the future.

"At the end of their 18th year," he said, "they will know where they are. They can opt for early induction or they can begin college, expecting a call later. Regulations also will permit a two-year enlistment even at 17 years."

Wilson seemed satisfied. "That solves the problem for me," he said.

Tarr predicted that most young men would be able to finish their sophomore year before they were drafted.

"Tarr is right," said Senate GOP leader Hugh Scott. "Students, after college interrupted by military service, are rather apt to improve educationally."

A presidential commission, headed by ex-Secretary of Defense Thomas Gates, urged President Nixon to eliminate conscription entirely by mid-1971 when the present draft law expires. But Laird told the closed door meeting bluntly that "the draft will not end in July, 1971, as the Gates Report recommends."

He declared, however, that the Administration's goal was to "move toward zero draft calls."

"We will be phasing down to thirteen and a third divisions," he also announced.

Granddaughter's Lecture

Senator Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., the man largely responsible for putting warnings on cigarette packages, has often wondered whether his message is getting through to the youth. Now he knows.

His granddaughter, Leslie, who is five years old, watched him as he lighted up a cigar to celebrate his 65th birthday. As Magnuson blew out a cloud of smoke, thinking perhaps of the stronger message he has just pushed through Congress to warn youngsters not to smoke, Leslie piped up:

"That may be hazardous to you," she said, shaking a stern finger at the cigar and the startled Senator.

Behind Closed Doors

The so-called SALT talks, which have brought the Russians and Americans together in Vienna to seek an agreement to halt the arms race, have been conducted behind closed doors. Both sides have made a real effort to keep propaganda and ideology out of the negotiations. The United States has submitted a complex and comprehensive analysis, showing how both countries could limit strategic weapons but still retain the ability to retaliate in case they were victims of nuclear attacks. The Soviets have shown a genuine interest in the American analysis. The American delegation has also made clear to the Soviets that the United States will do no more than absolutely necessary to maintain its military position.

Beaten Children Need Help, So Do Their Abusive Parents

By TOM TIEDE

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The other evening a two-year-old child was admitted to a Manhattan hospital with one arm broken, both eyes blackened, cigarette burns on his shoulders and the look of starvation about the entire body.

The child had been tortured by his parents.

Nothing entirely extraordinary, actually. Some 2,000 cases of battered children are reported in New York City each year. And the estimated child abuse rate for the nation is 250 per million people, or more than 50,000 annually.

So, question: What should the authorities, acting in behalf of the child and society at large, do with men and women who commit such crimes?

Most of us would probably answer in anger. Arrest them, toss them in prison — and never again permit them to live with or even see their infant victims.

But according to growing numbers of pediatricians, this reaction may be the worst thing authorities might do. Instead, doctors believe that such parents are not so much sadists as they are emotionally sick, and therefore therapy and family counseling are more justified than jail.

The physicians feel this isn't bleeding heart psychiatry. Rather, just good sociological sense. Because, they say, rehabilitating the parents is often the best thing that can be done for the children themselves.

Dr. Edmund Joyner, chairman of the Department of Pediatrics at Roosevelt Hospital, sums up the whole principle:

"One thing I've learned in treating hundreds of battered children is that they still love and need their parents — just like any other kids. After they've been healed here at the hospital, and their parents come to take them home, they don't act frightened. They run like crazy to give mom and dad a big hug. They don't want to be taken away, or put in a children's shelter. Despite everything, they want to continue living at home."

Dr. Ray Helfer, of New York's Catholic Medical Center, is perhaps the nation's foremost authority on battered children and battering parents. He has probed thousands of cases and is into his second book on the subject.

He's convinced that helping the parents, like treating the children, must be a regular part of hospital work. And he believes such work is made easier because all such parents tend to follow a regular, identifiable pattern.

Says he, sketching it: "Almost all abusing parents have histories of parental neglect themselves. So never having had normal family affection themselves, they expect much more of it from children of their own. If they don't get it, then they strike back, usually at small children (five and below, because the age group can't testify) and often at only one target child in their litter."

Helfer insists this pattern of parental history is so clear that he can predict, by asking questions, which parents are prone to abuse. He says normally reared parents almost never brutalize their kids. Mixed couples (one abnormally raised) will follow the lead of whichever is the dominant mate. But two brutally raised parents will invariably brutalize their kids.

The doctor further feels that child abuse usually does not take place unless accompanied by some form of crisis. The child may be cranky, or the parent worried about bills. In such events, the parent who is prone to child beating is incapable of finding any release. He doesn't know or doesn't care to seek outside help. And thus he takes his frustrations out on his baby.

Given these clear traits of child abusers, Dr. Helfer, Joyner and others believe it's possible to forecast child abuse before it happens.

If hospitals, social workers, cops on the beat, even laymen in America's neighborhoods, were educated to the facts of child beating, many brutalities might be stopped or at least kept to a minimum.

Pediatricians feel it's worth more study and consideration. They say that right now most battered children can be saved, by way of the law, from the savagery and sickness of their abusing parents. How much better it would be, by way of the hospitals, the parents could be saved, too.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

By JIM GILPATRIC

We hear a lot these days about special groups wanting and sometimes demanding special rights. . . There is only one special group we can think of that is really entitled to special rights. But that group—with few exceptions—ever ask or expect special favors.

This special group includes the poor and the rich. They are loving, thoughtful, considerate. They are seen everywhere. Though some are "deprived," they rarely ask things for themselves. They think of others ahead of themselves. When something needs to be done, they are the first to take over. In emergencies, they are the busiest, most active and the most important people in the world. If it were not for them, NONE of us would be here. . .

We honor them individually on Mother's Day—the mothers everywhere!

Kingston Hospital Auxiliary Raising Funds

Four original paintings and one ink sketch have been donated by friends of the Kingston Hospital Auxiliary to aid the Auxiliary in launching a special fund raising project. All proceeds from the art benefit will be used to carry on various projects at the hospital. The awards will be made at the Auxiliary's annual luncheon on Tuesday, May 26 at Roberto's. Tickets may be purchased from any committee member or at the auxiliary officer in the Kingston Hospital.

Paul Wesley Arndt, well known Woodstock artist, has donated his painting, "A Valley in the Catskills." Arndt started his art studies at the age of eight in St. Louis, Mo. When he was 12, he worked at the Art Institute of Chicago and after three years entered drawing and painting studies in the old J. Francis Smith Art Academy in Chicago, Ill. Later he was the only English speaking student in the studio of Jean Leon Gerome at the Ecole des Beaux Arts in Paris, France. He studied there for five years during which time he made special investigative studies of the works and methods of the old masters. Later he taught at the Smith Art Academy and also decorated ocean liners. His latter work took him all over the United States.

Paintings were also donated by: James Kaman of Hurley, art teacher in the Kingston Consolidated School District, an original water color; L. P. Braemer of Connelly, an oil painting "Snow Scene;" James Crist, student at UCCC, ink and pen sketch; Sally Rider painting.

All art works are now on exhibit at the Ulster County Savings Bank. Members of the benefit committee are Mrs. Anthony Triulzi, Mrs. Wilbur Peters and Mrs. John Salapatis.

STRICKEN HERO — Willis Reed, New York Knicks center, grimaces in pain after falling on his right hip in first period of game with LA Lakers in NBA playoffs Monday night. He spent the rest of the game in the dressing room. Knicks won, however, 107-100. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Monticello Slates Its Formal Opening

MONTICELLO, full brother to the star duo of Romeo Hanover and Romulus Hanover will be making his first local appearance, following a limited campaign as a two-year old last season.

Also expected in the starting lineup are two worthy graduates of Monticello's juvenile program, Society's Prince and Prince Mac.

Society's Prince, driven by Real Cormier, was the season's champion pacing gelding last year as a two-year old when he paced Monticello's familiar oval in 2:05, while Prince Mac, as speedy son of Grand Time, raced here in 2:04.4 for trainer driver Al Burton.

Post time is 8:45 p.m. Racing will continue nightly except Sunday through Sept. 12, with 13 doubleheaders on tap for the Raceway's 13th season.

NEW YORK

David slew Goliath Monday night, but with a basketball, not with a slingshot.

While an SRG crowd of more than 19,500 rattled the walls of the new Madison Square Garden Complex, the fabulous New York Knicks won the greatest game in their colorful history, 107-100, to take a 3-2 edge back to Los Angeles Wednesday and a chance to earn their first professional basketball championship.

However, this decision over their arch-rivals from the Western Division of the National Basketball Association was unlike all the others.

The Knicks were forced to rally from a near unsurmountable deficit when super-star Willis Reed, the NBA Player-of-the-year, was left sprawling on all fours midway through the first period of play.

Reed, who has been playing with wobbly and sore legs for several weeks, had to give up his courageous battle. The agony on his face told the story and the scoreboard showed the Lakers in front by 10 points, 25-15, when captain Willis departed.

Strong First Half

Wilt Chamberlain from the inside and Jerry West, the fastest gun in the West from the outside, simply overpowered the home side in the first half and Los Angeles had a commanding, 53-40, lead at the intermission. Wilt scored 18 points and West had 16.

Nate Bowman and Bill Hoskett tried their best to replace the injured Reed but they couldn't stem the tide. When the second half began, Coach Red Holzman went for defense and speed.

Against the likes of Chamberlain and Mel Counts, both of whom stand in the area of seven feet, the Knicks began the long road back with 6-7 Dave Stallworth the biggest man in their lineup.

However, the Eastern Division champions upset the visitors with a devastating all-court press on defense and the basic run and shoot offense. The Lakers still don't know what hit them.

That 53-40 halftime margin had dwindled to a mere seven, 82-75, starting the final session. But, Dave DeBusschere, who turned in an outstanding defensive job on Chamberlain in the third period, picked up his fifth foul.

Performing the Impossible

It was up to Stallworth, Walt Frazier, Dick Barnett, Bill Bradley and Cazzie Russell to turn the trick. They performed the impossible, almost shutting out Chamberlain and West and keeping the Lakers from penetrating with a ball-hawking defense.

There were no individual heroes in those final, frantic 12 minutes. Everyone contributed while the partisan Knick fans nearly brought down the rafters. This was teamwork in its finest form and those who watched it will long remember. Bradley, recovering from a two-game shooting slump, tied the score twice, at 85 and 87. Stallworth made an unbelievable driving layup to put New York ahead for the first time, 87-85. From then on, the Lakers were finished.

Frazier, who contributed 12 assists to his team high total of 21 points, kept the defensive pressure and the Lakers, who looked invincible in the first half, just wilted.

Chamberlain and West were limited to a basket and two free throws each in the third and fourth periods. Without them putting the ball in the hole, the Lakers were through.

The deafening noise reached a crescendo two seconds from the end when the Knick fans started court-side. Officials Mandy Rudolph and Richie Powers tried in vain to play those final two seconds. For Los Angeles, the game lasted 12 minutes too long. The Lakers were outscored, 32-18, in that fourth period.

The scene shifts to the Forum in Los Angeles on Wednesday and Reed is a very doubtful player. For those long-suffering Knick fans, that initial championship is within reach and who's to say they can't win without their great center? It couldn't happen Monday — but it did.

Lackaye and Gallo Pitch One-Hitter

KINGSTON Kingston High School's baseball team scored a 13-1 victory over visiting Port Jervis in the DUSO League opener yesterday at Dietz Stadium. The Maroons had 11 hits, while Don Lackaye and Paul Gallo shared mound duties, limiting the Red Raiders to one hit. Lackaye was credited with the win. Earl Sheard took the loss.

In the only other DUSO contest yesterday, Newburgh zipped Middletown, 1-0. Kingston plays Coleman at home Wednesday and faces Middletown away on Thursday.

The Maroons buried the visitors with six runs in the third inning on a three-run triple by Joe Tiano and a double by Paul Watzka. Rich Freese, George Geanuleas and Lackaye were aboard when Tiano unloaded.

Rich Sorenson doubled in one of the winners' four runs in the bottom of the sixth. Sorenson had two hits, as did Watzka and Geanuleas and also had three runs batted in and scored one himself.

"Don Lackaye and Paul Gallo were very effective," said coach Ron Cole. "Although Everybody is looking for a bargain.

Here's one you can believe in.

What makes the Buick LeSabre we sell such bargains?

We're dealing, for one thing. Spring is here and we're making up for lost time during those cold winter months when everybody stayed home by the fire.

We're going to make it real easy for you to get into a Buick and celebrate Spring. But that's only part of what makes a bargain a bargain.

What about the car? Can you believe it?

Every Buick is built with integrity. You get things like a cooling system that should never overheat, even with air conditioning.

You get Buick's unique suspension system—AccuDrive—that makes this LeSabre one of the best handling Buicks ever.

You can even order a 350 cubic-inch, V8. With four-barrel carburetion. That delivers 285 horsepower. Yet runs on regular gas.

So, let's put it this way. If you want a bargain, we've got the ingredients. The car. And the deal.

Wouldn't you really rather have a Buick?

Buick Value/Buick Dealers. Something to believe in.

Bouton Changes His Rating to 'A'

(By The Associated Press) Jim Bouton is shooting for an "A" rating as a starting pitcher to go with his "X" rating as a beginning author.

Bouton, the outspoken Houston knuckleballer whose inside-baseball book, "Ball Four," should be on the shelves next month, made top marks on the mound Monday night, taming the Chicago Cubs 7-2 with a six-hitter.

In going the distance for the first time in four starts this spring, Bouton equaled his complete game total for last season, when he made 23 appearances—all but two of them in relief—for Seattle and Houston.

In the only other games on the schedule, Atlanta ran its winning streak to seven with a 5-3 victory over Pittsburgh and Cincinnati made it six straight wins by pounding St. Louis 7-3.

Bouton shrugged off a pregame earned run average of 7.41, limited the Cubs to one untainted run and scored twice himself while squaring his pitching record at 2-2.

The 31-year-old veteran, who won 21 and 18 games for the New York Yankees in 1963-64 before losing his fastball touch, has fought his way back by mastering the dancing knuckleball.

But one new pitch wasn't enough, so he tossed his hat in the literary ring, dictating into a tape recorder last winter and passing on the results to an editor for publication.

"I was going to write a book if I ever got famous," Bouton said. "But I decided I couldn't wait any longer."

Dutchess Tops UCC In Tenth

KINGSTON

Leave it to the Ulster County Community baseball team to find new ways of blowing a ball game.

Like Monday's bone crushing 6-4 loss to Dutchess County Community in 10 innings under the Dietz Stadium lanterns.

Dutchess, the defending Conference, came to bat in the top of the 10th with the score tied 4-4 and then it happened like this:

Dolan fled to Dorsey in right field who failed to hold the ball long enough for a legal catch. Rock Veronesi batted a DP ball to Rosner at short and he booted it. Eddie Kozak dropped a bunt along the third base line and pitcher Rich Connors bobbled it to load the bases with none out.

But the payoff was yet to come. Connors struck out Paul Moshier for the first out, but Mike Hayden lofted a pop fly to short center. It was within infield-fly range and the umpires called it that. The Dutchess base runner were on the move. Alas, nobody on the UCC side made a move to catch the ball and it dropped among a group of embarrassed players. Two runs crossed the plate and that was the ball game.

A strong relief pitching performance by Paul McPeck of the Falcons throttled Ulster after a four-run first inning. McPeck relieved starter Tom DiFiglio after the latter pitched to three batters and blanked the Senators the rest of the way on five hits. He struck out 11.

Mike Patrick, the UCC lead-off man, greeted DiFiglio with a single to open the game. John Carter walked and Greg Rios singled to right scoring Patrick. McPeck replaced DiFiglio at this point.

McPeck walked Larry Tripodo to load the bases. Gary Schatzel scored on third baseman Kozak's boot. Harry Lyons singled to score Rios and Tripodo came home on Jerry Corrado's fly to center with the fourth run.

Fautz Builders Lead Area Teams With 2821

KINGSTON

The 2821 scratch series posted by Fautz Custom Builders is the highest Kingston area team total in the New York State Tournament after five weeks of play.

Bill Noreika and John Farrell posted 589's, as the Builders decked games of 929, 970 and 921 for the 2821. A 96-pin handicap boost gave them 2917 gross. LeRoy Lewis added 566, Joe Fautz 530 and Mike Cashara 547.

The American Legion No. 2's 2975 is the second highest area gross, surpassed only by the Captains Table 3088.

Al Wood posted a 507 triplacate and George Glaser, who went in with a 194 average, may have set or tied a state record with a 603 triple in each event.

Some of the area's top bowlers found the Sangi Bowlero lanes pretty hard to crack in the team event. Chris Gallo rolled 576, Kildy Corrado 566 and three name bowlers failed to hit 500—Jerry Woodvine 473, George Magley 478 and Bud Lowe 499.

John Simonelli, a 209 average bowler with Carter Tool and Die of Rochester posted only 533. A teammate, Bill Southcott (206 average) fired 620.

This is Oldsmobile's year at Indy.

Isn't it your year for an Olds?

The knowing folks at Indy just named Olds 4-4-2 official pace car for this year's 500.

For good reason. Olds is not only an excellent performer, it's a winner in looks and ride as well.

The fact is, every 1970 Olds is a pacesetter. And it goes far deeper than performance.

You find it in great engineering. In exceptional comfort. In ride and handling that are outstanding. And in the solid quality and dependability you've come to expect from Oldsmobile.

In fact, it's this quality that leads many people to believe that Olds is priced out of their reach. A mistaken notion that might keep you in an ordinary car, instead of an Olds.

The truth of the matter is that many Olds models are priced right down with the low-price names.

Now that you have the facts, isn't this your year to go Oldsmobile? You can probably do so for no more than what you've been paying. See your nearest Olds dealer!

"Hi HANDSOME...."

...I've wanted to talk to you for a long time, but I never had the nerve. I've noticed you around town for quite some time and I just had to tell you how handsome you look in your wardrobe from Flanagan's. I hope you'll forgive me for being so forward, but I just had to speak to you... What? ... why I'd love to go to dinner with you if you'll wear that beautiful brown suit I've seen you wear — it makes you look so-o-o-o irresistible."

You know how it is when you see something you have to have. And you have to have it right then. And you don't have enough money.

If you had a line of credit at Marine Midland, you wouldn't have to worry.

If you had a line of credit, you could write a check for a color TV, even if you didn't have the money. You could write checks for anything up to $5000, even if you didn't have the money.

It's really a loan. Only you don't have to ask for it. And you don't have to wait for it. You pay interest on whatever you borrow. And you get a statement every month telling you how much you owe us. You can pay it back all at once or a little at a time.

Don't worry about getting in over your head. We won't let you do that. But if you really want a color TV, you can have it.

Pollution in Red Hook...Still No Solution

By TIM SCHUSTER

RED HOOK
Increasing pressure was brought to bear on the Red Hook Village Board Monday evening by a spokesman for Red Hook Estates residents who spoke out against what he called odors resulting from Orchard Hills Farms "sewage."

tates resident for the past six years, said he represented a large group of homeowners from that neighborhood which was tired of incessant talk and no action.
"I have had no relief from this problem in the six years I have been here," said Rose. "Nothing apparently is being done; the problem is becoming increasingly worse."

Mayor Ellroy C. Hand referred to a meeting at Orchard Hill two Fridays ago in citing the efforts of the plant to deal with the problem.
He also revealed that a similar meeting, on a larger scale, had taken place last Thursday in Poughkeepsie with representatives of the Village of Red Hook, Dutchess County Board of Health, New York State Board of Health, county representative Madison Sipperley Jr., and the county district attorney's office in attendance.

The general consensus of those present indicated that the legal proceedings filed against Orchard Hill by two Red Hook citizens would probably yield no satisfaction, since it had been determined by the County Health Department that insufficient pollution of the water was in evidence.

The only charge that could be substantiated to some degree was producing an odor, which would not cause bodily injury, and no law existed prohibiting this, according to Mayor Hand.
Rose asked if sloppy areas to the rear of the factory, near Orchard Hill, did not constitute a public health nuisance.

Trustee Robert Bowman responded that there would be extreme difficulty proving this, since the area was a natural watershed, protected by the Conservation Department, and both state and village storm drains emptied onto the same area.
Mayor Hand said that new approaches to deal with the problem were being tried by Orchard Hill, with little success thus far. He concluded his remarks by saying the village was powerless to do anything to alleviate any odor, but that he would try to keep after the factory for outdoor quality control.

In other business, bids for paving asphalt and crushed stone were tabled pending further reviewing.
It was noted that real estate taxes would be collected starting June 1, from 9-4, and that interest would become payable after July 1.
Fire department elections were approved, including Chief William Schloemer; first assistant William O'Brien; and second assistant John Zucco.

Permission was granted the VFW for a Memorial Day parade in the village, and permission was given the Little League for a parade May 11, kicking off its season.
Another two cleanup days will be held May 25 and 27, said Clerk Francis Rabbett said that 28 truckloads of trash were

POUGHKEEPSIE
Five Ulster County youths are among nine candidates from the 28th Congressional District who have been accepted at service academies.

Representative Hamilton Fish Jr., in making the announcement, said the list is only partial. "Others who applied still have an opportunity to be chosen," the Congressman noted.

Three Kingston youths selected are Frederick Charles Dunn Jr., and Jay Weiss for the Air Force Academy and James T. Boyd, Naval Academy at Annapolis.

All three are students at Kingston High School. Dunn is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Frederick C. Dunn of 163 West Chestnut Street; Weiss, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Weiss of 47 Browning Terrace, and Boyd, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Boyd of 18 Overlook Drive.

Other Ulster County residents named to academies are Mark Stephen Grazer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Grazer, PO Box 618, Woodstock, to U.S. Military Academy at West Point, and Stephen John Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Martin, RD 2, Box 506, Pine Bush, to Air Force Academy. Grazer is a student at Ontario Central School and Martin a student at Pine Bush Central School.

Listed in the initial appointments for the 28th Congressional District are Robert Louis Roach, son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Roach, 176 N. Walnut Street, Beacon, to Air Force Academy; Thomas A. Welles Backus, son of Robert S. Backus of Claverack, Donald V.

Harlin Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Harlin, RFD 1, Paradise Heights, Fishkill, and Larry M. Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Williams, RD 1, Box 11-150, Valatie, all to West Point Military Academy.

In announcing the list, Congressman Fish commended the successful candidates saying "is an excellent record and indicates, I believe, both the excellence of the high schools in our area and the high quality of our students."

$78,831 in Funds For Area Colleges

POUGHKEEPSIE
Rep. Hamilton Fish, Jr. today announced a total of $78,831 in Federal funds for five colleges in the 28th Congressional District in National Defense Student Loan Funds.

provided by the participating colleges and universities.

Civil Service Asso.

Mrs. Judy Murray, president of the Ulster County Civil Service Employees' Association (CSEA), today announced a Spring Festival Dinner Dance to be sponsored by her organization. Billed as exclusively a social function, it will be held at the Flamingo Restaurant, Route 9-W Saugerties, on Friday evening, May 22. The dinner will be followed by dancing to a fine local orchestra.

All Ulster County employees, whether members of CSEA or not, are invited to attend this event and to bring guests. Tickets may be obtained from any officer of the CSEA at the County Building, County Infirmary, or the Ulster County Highway Department.

Harold Pinckney, dinner chairman, stresses that the Spring Festival is being conducted to be only a social, get-acquainted function. "The only rule of order," said Pinckney, "is for everyone to have some fun."

The CSEA is the union empowered to represent all Ulster County employees as well as several hundred thousand state and other county workers. In addition to president, Judy Murray, the other officers are Ellsworth Dunn, vice president; Laura Joy, secretary; Jane Kilroy, treasurer; John Ray Mayone is public relations chairman.

The Spring Festival Dance will be the first of many social events to be sponsored by CSEA. Other activities are planned for the summer and fall, including several outdoor functions.

The committee urges that reservations be made by contacting any of the CSEA officers.

N. Y. State Fair Creative Cooking Head Is Named

Mrs. Marilyn Butcher of Baldwinsville has been appointed by State Fair Director Bernard W. Potter as superintendent of Creative Cooking, fifth largest department of the Fair, based on the number of entries.

LaBounty-Ferrine Wedding Told

Miss Yvette Rita LaBounty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard LaBounty, of 170 Mintum Street, Port Ewen, exchanged nuptial vows with Salvatore R. Ferrine Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore Ferrine Sr. of Glasco, on Sunday, April 19 at Church of the Presentation in Port Ewen.

The Rev. Pierce Kenny, CSSR, officiated at the double ring ceremony. Wayne Cusher, organist, provided traditional wedding selections. Arrangements of white Calla lilies decorated the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a demi-fitted A-line gown of white sarrano, fashioned with a floral circlet of Venice lace on the high stand-up collar and outlining the empress waistline. Her tulle petal crown was framed with tiered French illusion veiling and she carried a bouquet of white daisies and greens.

Miss Joanne LaBounty of Port Ewen was maid of honor for her sister in a bluish pink gown of Saki styled in the princess lines with short sleeves and ribbon embroidered lace forming the high neckline and trimming the wattle train. She wore a matching picture hat and carried a nosegay of pink and white daisies.

Miss Juliana Teresa Buono, cousin of the bride, served as junior bridesmaid in a sky blue gown styled identically to that of the honor attendant's. Her headpiece was a matching blue bow and she carried a nosegay of blue and white daisies.

Camillo Sasso of Glasco was best man. Junior usher was Anthony Provenzano, cousin of the bridegroom. Ushers were John and Richard LaBounty, brothers of the bride.

A reception for 75 guests was held at Elmer's Inn, Ruby.

For her wedding trip through the New England states, the bride selected a pink knit suit and white accessories.

The bride, a graduate of Kingston High School, is employed at Kingston Knitting Mills. Her husband attended Saugerties High School and Ulster County Community College. He is employed in construction.

The couple are residing in Glasco.

First prize for the latter will be an 18-cubic foot Agway freezer.

Emphasis will be on Italian and low calorie dishes, with the week's competition climaxed by a "Fiesta" for all blue ribbon winners. Requirements for participation in this event have been simplified.

The new supervisor has worked in Creative Cooking two years and last year was coordinator of judges. She is a graduate of Buffalo State Teachers College in home economics and taught for 15 years in junior and senior high schools in the state. She is a substitute teacher in science and home economics in the Baldwinsville schools, is married to Walter N. Butcher and a mother of a six-year old daughter, Judy.

Mrs. Butcher, president of the Syracuse branch of the American Association of University Women, has held several posts in the New York State Home Economics Association's Central Western and Central districts.

Used Cars For Sale

Introducing A Used Car Guarantee...

It Doesn't Come With Every Car

It's a 100% guarantee. Not one of those "we pay half you pay half" deals.

And it comes only with used cars that pass the Volkswagen 16 point Safety and Performance test.

OUR AFFILIATION WITH A TOP TRADING AREA ALLOWS US TO BRING TO ULSTER COUNTY A VERY HIGH CALIBRE BRAND OF MERCHANDISE AT THE LOWEST POSSIBLE PRICE.

We also guarantee 100% repair or replacement of all major mechanical parts* for 30 days or 1,000 miles.

What kind of cars get our guarantee? All kinds. Chevys, Fords, Ramblers, VWs. (We get all kinds of trade-ins for new Volkswagens.)

So, the next time somebody tries to sell you a used car that's "just like new," ask about the guarantee. Then remember us.

No, our used cars aren't "just like new." No used cars can be. But no used cars could be in better shape, either.

Dear Abby

Family Reunions??

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-
N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I became engaged to a man I'll call Frank. He had been divorced for 3 years when I met him. His "ex" married shortly thereafter.

My problem is the close family ties Frank maintains with his ex-wife's people. Especially his ex-wife's sister. This sister keeps calling Frank to tell him her troubles. She invites him to all the family "reunions" and he goes.

One evening Frank took me to this ex-sister-in-law's house and I felt uncomfortable all the while. She looks like Frank's ex-wife and all the talk was about "family" and mutual friends. I didn't know any of these people and sat there like a wart on a pickle.

I have told Frank that I didn't see where his keeping in touch with his "ex's" family was ethical. He said he saw nothing wrong with it. (They had no children.) Am I wrong to feel this way? What should I do?

DEAR FIANCEE: I'd take a long hard look at a man who persisted in hanging on to "family" ties long after those ties were legally severed. Especially knowing it makes his fiancée uncomfortable.

DEAR ABBY: It's fashionable these days for women to wear wigs, and I wear one. (Not all the time, but sometimes.)

Apparently mine looks so natural that people will stop me on the street and ask, "Are you wearing a wig, or is that your own hair?"

This is annoying. No matter what I say, their response is always, "It sure LOOKS natural."

Well, if my wig LOOKS so

"natural," why do they ask? is on strike until she negotiates a new contract.

DEAR WONDERING: Because it must not look as "natural" as they say it looks. If I were you, I'd discount the remarks of strangers, and ask a few good friends.

DEAR ABBY: I am faced with an important decision. Should I marry the husband I divorced 4 years ago? I know his faults and he knows mine. I am not "lonesome." I don't need a meal ticket, and there are no children to consider.

He has brought out the best in me. (Also the worst.) If any of your readers have had the experience of marrying the same man (or woman) more than once, I wish they'd write in. Does it ever work out?

ON THE FENCE: DEAR ON: Readers! Does it?

DEAR ABBY: Please tell "LONG BEACH WIFE" to get off her husband's back regarding his wearing a wedding ring, and to count her blessings. (She says she knows he's faithful, and she trusts him but she "feels better" when he wears his wedding ring.)

I've been seeing a man for the last 8 years, and he wears a wedding ring. He has for 30 years. I am not proud of it, but this is the way it has to be. He took it off because it got too tight, but his wife had it made larger so now he's wearing it again. But ring or no ring, it made no difference in his conduct. Some women are such fools!

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is the dark of the Moon, which is known as the Lunation, the get-together of the Moon and the Sun in the sign of Taurus. It is a good time for you to contemplate what your practical and material wants happen to be and then to devise a course of action that can make them yours in the future.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Take the treatments that will give you more dynamic health in the future and make you look even more attractive. You can gain some important aim through social channels today. Be careful with funds.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Some expert you consult personally can assist you in gaining a cherished and important wish. Be sure that you are helpful to some good friend who is having rough sledding. Be generous.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Get that project completed with good friends and be social at the same time, so that you get out of some bad situation. Get out to that important social event this evening. Be charming.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Find the right higher-up who can back you in your vocation and make you a more popular person as well. Safeguard your reputation. Be with persons you like and can trust this evening. Be happy.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Welcome those jobs you have to do instead of resenting them and they are soon behind you with profits accruing. Shop around for the clothing you want. Be sure that it is in good style.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Find a better way to have enjoyment with persons you really like and make this a happy day and evening. Be sure you compliment one you truly admire. Then you get the right results.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have to be most tactful and cautious with some situation at home if you want everything to come out all right. Do not get into any argument with one who does not think as you do. Be careful of strangers.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Make those important appointments to do the shopping that is so important, also. Be sure to get those reports out. Talk over with an associate how you can have mutual advancement.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those fascinating young people who looks at everything from the practical standpoint, so slant the education along very materialistic lines. You find your progeny can be a great power within the community in which he or she resides. Handling property and money is fine here. Teach this child, at an early age, not to eat too much, since there is a tendency toward obesity here. Give the finest spiritual and academic training.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU! Carroll Righter's Individual Forecast for your sign for May is now ready. For your copy send your birthdate and $1 to Carroll Righter Forecast, The Daily Freeman, Box 629, Hollywood, Calif. 90028.

WHY WE SAY

HOLD THE FORT

CIVIL WAR: When you "hold the fort" you keep things going. The expression got started during the Civil War when Gen. Sherman signaled this message to Gen. Corse from the top of Kennesaw Mountain in Georgia.

THE PALACE OF MUSTAPHA, RULER OF ALGIERS FROM 1799 TO 1806, HAD LOCKS ON EVERY DOOR — BUT THEY COULD NOT BE SECURED FROM THE INSIDE. MUSTAPHA INSISTED HIS ONLY ENEMIES WERE IN HIS OWN HOUSEHOLD.

A HUMAN HAND CARVED IN STONE BY AN ABORIGINAL INDIAN AND FOUND NEAR LAKE KEJIMKOOJIK, NOVA SCOTIA, IS THE FIRST INDICATION THAT PRIMITIVES WERE AWARE OF THE IMPORTANCE OF FINGERPRINTS.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

PANTS PROTEST: (Q) My mother won't let me dress the way I want to. I am permitted to wear pants to school only twice a week. The school rules say a girl can wear pants every day if they're not sloppy. I never dress sloppily. My mother says I will get boys if I dress pretty, her way. I want to get boys the way I feel pretty. I feel pretty in pants.—Pants Preferred in Philadelphia.

(A) A girl should be clean and neat when she goes to school. She should be dressed in a manner that complies with both school and parental rules. I would not object to your wearing pants five days a week, but your mother does. You have to adjust to that.

Maybe if you will keep dressing and looking your prettiest the two days you wear pants she will see your point and ease up on her two-day rule.

VERY SHORT: (Q) My little sister wears her skirts too short. She is 16, five-eleven, and weighs about 125. She says she wears party hose and that makes it all right. I told her short skirts attract the wrong kind of boys. She says I'm a prude. Can you help me?—Worried Brother in New York.

(A) A girl with good legs and your sister's measurements looks superb in minis. She will also look superb in minis when they become more fashionable. You may be more comfortable then.

Meanwhile, if she wears her short skirts tastefully, try not to bug her.

Boys (and men later) are going to look at her no matter what she wears.

'Gunsmoke' Still Blazing

NEW YORK (AP) — In terms of longevity and steady performance, "Gunsmoke" is ranked with Red Skelton's and Ed Sullivan's shows as television's all-time most popular programs.

Skelton, now winding up his 19th season, has been counted among the top 20 shows in audience popularity for 15 years. Sullivan, in his 22 TV years, has been up there for 12 seasons.

"Gunsmoke" has made Nielsen's list of toppers eight of its 15 seasons. And the popularity of big Matt Dillon, Kitty and Doc—characters played by the same performers since the beginning—shows no signs of flagging.

Monday night's rerun, a rather typical hour, was a demonstration of its appeal. It was escape entertainment, a simple, uncomplicated action story. The villains were cruel, cold and unshaven. The hero was handsome, brave and a crack shot. There was an enormous amount of shooting before the happy ending.

ABC's series of minidocumentaries which have the umbrella title of "Now" came up Monday night with an illuminating, too-short visit with Charles Evers in Fayette, Miss.

Subtitled "Black Mayor in Dixie," the half hour concentrated on Evers in his mayoral

Slow Down Wins Trump Showdown

By Oswald & James Jacoby

When you pull trumps, no one is going to ruff any of your high cards but you won't be able to use any of the trumps you have played out to ruff enemy high cards. If you have trumps to spare, this shouldn't worry you; when you don't have trumps to spare, it should.

North's raise to two hearts meets with our full approval. Once in awhile, this bid will lose you a spade fit but most of the time it leads to the right final contract in hearts.

South might well have jumped right to four hearts but he was an optimist and tried a three-club call to see if he could strike up some slam interest. When North merely bid three hearts, South settled for game.

South looked over dummy and saw that he could afford two trump leads, should trumps break 3-2. Then he would win up losing one trump and two diamonds. What about a 4-1 trump break? Could he guard against it? Yes, he could.

South ducked the first diamond and won the second. Then he cashed dummy's king of trumps and his own three top clubs to get rid of dummy's last diamond. Now he ruffed a spade, ruffed his last club with dummy's last trump and wound up losing two trumps in addition to the diamond he had lost at trick one.

We aren't going to claim that South's line of play was outstanding. There are other lines that would have worked also and plenty of lines that would have left South in the soup. The real bout is that South could not afford to draw two rounds of trumps.

Leaders Are Divided On Ability of N. Viets

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some U.S. military leaders are convinced North Vietnam is under severe strain and destruction of once-secure Cambodian bases will cut deeply into Hanoi's ability to wage a three-country war.

Other analysts, however, believe the North Vietnamese can continue fighting on fronts in South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos if they followed a "low key strategy."

Such strategy would involve selective attacks on U.S. and South Vietnamese bases in South Vietnam, limited operations to consolidate positions in Laos, and possibly a withdrawal deeper in Cambodia to establish new bases.

According to U.S. estimates, the North Vietnamese still have ample sources of military manpower, about 207,000 troops in the three countries, although the quality is down from what it used to be. Some experts believe North Vietnam, could, if pressed, raise another million men.

As long as the Soviet Union and Communist China are willing to pump in enough equipment, food and supplies, American analysts feel North Vietnam could sustain military operations throughout Indochina.

Top U.S. leaders strongly doubt the North Vietnamese can gear up quickly for a heavy strike in response to the new U.S.-South Vietnamese offensive aimed at demolishing the enemy base structure in Cambodia.

The exception to this lies in the presence of some three divisions of North Vietnamese troops north of the demilitarized zone.

Hanoi is on notice that any attacks by these troops across the DMZ might bring a resumption of widespread American bombing of North Vietnam.

Timing plays a very important part in the American thinking about the Cambodian operation and its consequences.

U.S. leaders expect the North Vietnamese supply dumps and communications and command position to be destroyed before the rainy season arrives in a few weeks.

As the U.S. strategists see it, a combination of the rainy season and the denial of a long-used and critical supply source in Cambodia will throw off for many months the enemy's ability to maneuver on a major scale particularly in South Vietnam.

Infiltration into South Vietnam has been at a relatively low level, totaling only about 30,000 men in the first four months of this year, according to U.S. military intelligence assessments.

But American officers, considering the Laotian and Cambodian troops almost totally ineffective, believe the North Vietnamese could hold much of what they have gained without any significant input of troops.

It was noted that even as the Americans and South Vietnamese attacked into the Cambodian base areas, North Vietnamese troops were making deeper penetrations in the Laotian panhandle to the North.

These enemy moves in Laos were described by American analysts as intended to secure the Ho Chi Minh trail, rather than any plan to gobble up more of Laos.

The Written Evidence

Senator J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and a bitter critic of the Vietnam War, holds telegrams he said he received protesting U. S. action in Cambodia. Fulbright said he received more than 3500 messages and that they ran 10 to 1 against President Nixon's position on Cambodia. "We've never had anything like this before," Fulbright told newsmen. Meanwhile, the White House said telegrams and letters continued to come in showing "substantial support for the President's action." Asked if the response was still 3 to 1 in favor as reported immediately after Nixon's speech last Thursday night, Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said, "It has been substantial and it has been sustained." (UPI TELEPHOTO).

White House Will Be Watching Several Key Primary Battles

Alabama votes today in a Democratic primary election with presidential portents, while Ohio voters choose the lineup for a crucial Senate contest.

The White House will be watching.

The Alabama election may determine whether George C. Wallace, battling to regain the governorship, will loom again in 1972 as a third-party presidential contender.

And Ohio is a vital political arena, a state in which Republicans hope to gain one of the seven Senate seats it would take to put them in control next year.

Gov. James A. Rhodes faces Rep. Robert Taft Jr. in a battle of big-name Republicans for nomination to the Senate.

The GOP victor will face either John Glenn, the former astronaut, or Howard Metzenbaum, a wealthy industrialist from Cleveland.

Metzenbaum, 52, is an ally of Sen. Stephen Young, a Democrat and a bitter foe of American involvement in Southeast Asia. Young is retiring.

In Alabama, Wallace faces Gov. Albert Brewer, a surprisingly formidable opponent.

Brewer said his polls show him ahead of Wallace.

The slender, 42-year-old governor inherited the State House two years ago when Lurleen Wallace, who succeeded her husband, died of cancer. Brewer, then a Wallace protégé, was lieutenant governor.

He has campaigned on the argument that he wants to work "full time for Alabama," implying that Wallace seeks the governorship to further his national political ends.

Wallace denies that, but he nonetheless contends that if Alabama turns him down, it will be a signal to President Nixon that his movement is at an end. Wallace said if that happened, the administration would no longer have to heed the demands of the South.

Ohio also will choose gubernatorial nominees. Democrats will choose among two former House members, John J. Gilligan of Cincinnati and Robert E. Sweeney of Cleveland, and Mark McElroy, once state attorney general. The Republican contestants are Rep. Donald E. Lukens, state auditor Roger Cloud, and Atty. Gen. Paul W. Brown.

Court Backs Church On Tax Exemptions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court's approval of tax exemptions for religiously used property comes as tests of various forms of government aid to church institutions are mounting.

As Justice William J. Brennan Jr. noted Monday in a concurring opinion, tax exemptions are a far different matter from subsidies. But the top-heavy, 7-1 vote in favor of exemptions may presage high court approval of the entwining of government and religion.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger's decision for the court rejected any idea that the two spheres can be kept rigidly separate. He said the First Amendment requires a "benevolent neutrality" toward religion. In other words, government is to be neutral, but in a friendly sort of a way.

On the face of it, the doctrine appeared to alarm only one justice, William O. Douglas.

He said independence between government and religion is "the price of liberty." He said tax exemptions may seem a minor form of government involvement in religion and that he failed to see any real difference between a subsidy and a tax exemption.

Above all, Douglas warned that the court's approval could be a long step down the path toward government sponsorship of religion.

The tests will come in cases headed in the court's direction. And in one big one already there.
